

8 SIGNS YOUR BUSINESS IS READY FOR ERP

1. YOUR BUSINESS IS GROWING FASTER THAN EXPECTED

More orders and more customers.

Selling to more customers than you previously expected? You'll currently be dealing with an increase in production, workforce and business process.

2. YOU'RE DROWNING IN PAPERWORK

Too much paperwork slowing you down.

Keeping a note of your daily business can slow you down and stop you from focusing on what's important. As the size of your company increases, so does the chance to misplace documents.

3. YOUR CURRENT SYSTEMS AREN'T EFFICIENT

Wasting hours of time, every week.

Your company is still dealing with problems like accounting and stock management the old-fashioned way working with accounts & financials in several spreadsheets

4. CUSTOMER SATISFACTION IS DECREASING

You don't have the answers the customer needs.

if a customer calls to inquire about an order and employees can't track it to see if it's been shipped—or if it's even in stock—your company will start to develop a poor reputation for reliability and service.

5. YOU HAVE AMBITIOUS GROWTH PLANS

You want to be the best at what you do.

You want to grow your business and become widely recognised. The bigger you grow, the more regulations you need to follow which your current systems can't help with.

6. MANAGEMENT INFORMATION IS INCONSISTENT

You keep finding mistakes in reports.

With manual processes, it's very difficult to gain a 360° view of your business and to make accurate decisions.

7. YOU'RE SPENDING TOO MUCH TIME INPUTTING DATA

Too long spent manually inputting data.

You're trying to expand your business but can't keep up with the demand. Tasks like inputting data and invoices can lead to duplication and is very time consuming.

8. DATA IS BECOMING UNMANAGEABLE

So much data but no time.

As you grow, the amount of data you need to deal with accurately becomes vast and time-consuming. Your existing software can't cope with the large volumes.
